

If a disaster happened, who would I save in da book and why?

In my opinion I would save Mahmoud because he has to walk all the way to Germany from Syria. And another reason because I searched it up on maps on google and it said it would take 39 days and up and + he had one younger sister and then a baby. All the parents had was the spare money, phone and a phone charger. They also all had to hide more of there skin crossing all the borders and get a temporary visa for the country.
